

Triller is an American owned Social Media App which has strong similarities to TikTok in its features. You watch videos, follow other users, comment on their content, and create your own content. The same or similar trends filter through Triller as in TikTok. There was an initially strong migration to Triller from TikTok due to the distrust of what the owners of TikTok may have been doing with your data (it is still not clear).

In the home screen where videos play → Tap bottom right corner "profile icon" → Select "the settings wheel" in the top right → Look three down, select "Private Account" → Done!

GOOD POINTS

- A quite easy setup for a Private Account, see the how to in red at the top. One click setup makes it so much easier for users.
- Creativity at your fingertips in creating fun and energising videos, picking appropriate videos and music to use can be enjoyable for the user and maybe the user's family if they wanted to get involved.
- You can create videos and save them into your "photo album" which means you never post them anywhere and can just share them privately within your circle of family and friends

BAD POINTS

- There are a lot of known "glitches" within the app that are still being ironed out, this puts user off the app. Simple things like volume issues, syncing video issues are becoming frustrating for users.
- Like any other similar platforms, the app is full of content that is sexually suggestive and if users are watching younger than 13 this would be a concern.
- You may find your child can download this without your knowledge, making it important to keep an eye on what they are doing.

Parent Opinion:

Mother of a 12-year-old & 17-year-old

My son is 17 he gets annoyed and says it is glitchy and has problems. My 12-year-old daughter on the other hand loves it, she uses it every day and sometimes I cannot get her off it. The videos are a bit suggestive I do not think she really understands how sexy some of them are and that worries me.
